

Business Sustainability Round Table forums motivate, inform and leverage the collaborative influence of leaders to generate sustainable business practice.

Climate change is presenting business leaders with compelling challenges and opportunities. They include:

- ◆ Competing for market share in a carbon constrained economy
- ◆ Innovation to develop products and services for the future
- ◆ Dealing with uncertainty during the planning stages of legislation and policy
- ◆ Recruitment and retention of talent in an environmentally aware labour market
- ◆ Keeping up with the implications for business of the imperatives associated with environmental sustainability.

Designed for organisational leaders and decisions makers, the BSRT keeps you up to date on the latest information and ideas and connects you with other leaders in an environment that fosters robust, safe and confidential dialogue.

Your membership benefits

Being proactive about climate change generates energy cost reductions, improves reputation, employee and stakeholder satisfaction, creates competitive advantage through leadership and business innovations and the ability to respond effectively to new regulatory regimes.

BSRT helps you achieve these outcomes through

- ◆ Membership of a progressive, influential group of professionals that broadens the leverage and impact of business leaders
- ◆ Platforms for developing ideas and collaborations as ‘parallel initiatives’
- ◆ Information and case studies that share the learnings of other carbon reduction strategies and outcomes
- ◆ Flexible meeting programs that respond to members’ evolving interests and public debate.

We do this by providing

- ◆ Monthly Round Tables – limited to 15 members each - featuring speakers and discussions
- ◆ Online informational services
- ◆ A range of unique knowledge sharing events that respond in ‘real time’ to the emerging questions about the business response to climate change.
